Colorful or exotic, Espace Loggia gives space to your room .....

In the late 70s, Espace Loggia launched the first loft bed concept in France, and followed a wide product range based on progressive and modular systems, that enable unique collections. The concept behind the brand is : How to take full advantage of the volume of a room rather than being limited to the size of the floor space ?

Our latest 2010 collection is enhanced by modernity with the new mobile bed design displayed in a white and orange finish, also new colour contrasts on the loft beds and the brick programme. The innovation this year is obviously the appearance of the bamboo. Pure and fine material, the bamboo finish gives an exotic atmosphere to your room. Since 2002, Espace Loggia collaborates with Guillaume Parent, considered designer, to make evolve the range and to carry out new innovating creations.

The New Mobile Bed 'White & Orange'

This new generation of space saving beds frees up your room and allows you every extra furnishing underneath like a desk or a sofa, with the use of the Brick Programme.

The New Mobile Bed looks more mainstream with its white/orange pop design, and will perfectly fit in a teenager room and in a loft or studio apartment.

Attached to a concrete wall or ceiling, Espace Loggia's mobile bed turns a studio apartment in a 2 rooms flat. Hidden on the ceiling during the day, the bed reappears at night, with no need to move the furniture. An extra room without having to move out...

Clever and useful, electric plugs are installed on the frame for your lightening and other accessories standing on the shelves.

The Mobile Bed exists in a manual version based on a counterweight system and is also available in electric version.
